

WIKIALPS Final conference

Recently updated !

Quick, simple, easy to use. These are the features that a tool wanting to help spatial planning has to have.

During the last panel discussion, held during the final conference of WIKIALPS Alpine Project, the most recurrent concept was that the knowledge produced by European funds should be disseminated through effective and friendly instruments like the WIKI.

The JTS, Joint Technical Secretariat of Alpine Space, CIPRA and Alpine Convention representative proposed their opinions and suggestions to develop furthermore the interesting potential expressed in this first period of elaboration of WIKIALPS.

The Fondazione Montagna Sicura delegation had the opportunity to stress the importance of stakeholders involvement, creating a task force able to move on the field to promote and explain the use of Wiki platform.

The next step for the partners group will be to rationalize all the ideas which came up from the conference to converge them towards a better exploitation of alpine space
